

Grow your electric vehicle business with Agero.

Agero recognizes the need for updated roadside services, support, and resources as the industry shifts to alternative energy solutions such as electric power vehicles. While these vehicles offer the promise of greater efficiency, reduced carbon footprint, and performance benefits, they also bring new challenges to drivers and roadside assistance providers. Our Electric Vehicle Services are designed to help make the adoption of electric vehicles an easy transition for you and your customers.

» Agero is already prepared to support your electric vehicle product launches and your new zero-emissions drivers.

Mobile Charging

- The EV Mobile charger used in Agero's program offers our automotive clients the opportunity to partner with us as a leader in supporting electric vehicles and drivers.
- This lightweight, fuel driven generator and trailer system is the "greenest" way to offer efficient and cost effective mobile charging.
- With the first electric vehicle mobile charging network in the country, we're already on our way to establishing Agero as the best provider in this space.

Flexibility and Scalability

- The trailer-style mobile charging model – used by our service providers and available for sale to dealerships – is not only more efficient than retrofitted road service vehicles; it's also extremely flexible and easy to scale.
- EV Mobile charging Units, which are also available to both service providers and dealerships, are affordable and can be easily hooked up to a variety of road service vehicles. Our green solution relies on propane fuel, which burns cleaner than gasoline and avoids adding significant weight to the service truck, thereby not impacting the truck's fuel efficiency.

- As the electric vehicle market grows, your roadside support coverage can expand with it very quickly. We plan to add more EV Mobile charging Units across both our national Service Provider network and our OEM partner dealerships as they are needed.
- The units offer safe, quick, powerful charging of up to four vehicles at a time – making them the best performing solutions for a variety of applications.

National Network of Service Providers

- Agero takes pride in the strong relationships we've formed with our national network of service providers.
- We've made a commitment to help service providers access training and educational resources to ensure we're working together seamlessly to provide the best customer service experience in the industry.

- Whether it's a mobile charge or a tow back to the dealership, with Agero you'll know that all of your EV customers' roadside events are handled by qualified and closely managed Service Providers who have access to the latest electric vehicle training and equipment available.
